DICK CARTER, Yacht Designer (book) The story of a well known yacht designer and owner/skipper of Rabbit and how his “appetite for offshore racing was whetted” during the Golden Age of offshore racing. Website www.dickcarteryacht designer.com has info on the article appearing in the January 2019 issue of SAIL Magazine.

2019 SOUTHERN BAY RACING SCHEDULE is now available. The 2019 Southern Bay Racing Schedule (big boats) is available from your club racing program officials, both North and South CBYRA Region 4 divisions. OR, ask for an electronic copy by return email from SBRNYCU , email mcbear@earthlink.net , SUBJ: 2019 Racing Schedule, and say “2019 Schedule, please” A reply email to this issue of SBRNYCU is ok too, but make it clear you are requesting the schedule.

MURPHY'S LAW: Yrs truly, the Racing Beagle, suggest you lay your hands on the January 2019 issue of SAIL Magazine and turn to pages 40 – 43. Army surplus wading suit, wool Peruvian ski mask, icicles hanging from the bow pulpit, single digit temperatures in Cape May, and balmy weather in Hampton at Christmastime are all elements the tale of a delivery from Delaware Bay to St Petersburg, Florida, via the southern Chesapeake Bay. It happened in the early 1960's . The article includes a full page picture of ice laden Rabbit, Dick Carter's boat, pulling into Hampton River and HYC, the rocks of Hampton University's shoreline in the background. Enjoy the read! /S/ Murphy the Racing Beagle, the sailing spirit in us all.
