MAIDEN – a really good sailing flick! This movie is about the 5th Whitbread Round the World Race (1989-90) and the first all-women Whitbread team. The majority of the film is original race video. The actual sailors are in the film. The boat was skippered by Tracey Edwards, who had a dream of sailing around the world. There is no particular ideology championed in this film. The characters are real sailors who live by a “Do it anyway.” mantra. Well worth the price of admission.
