MURPHY'S LAW: Yrs Truly, the Racing Beagle, Knows that racers know that "ya gotta do what you gotta do" when conditions on the race course become dire. Who hasn't used the "Put on all the rain gear to bring out the sunshine" mojo move? A southern Bay raceboat recently added to the list. The crew deploys a fishing rod when drifting occurs. So, add this to the mojo move list: "Whenever light air conditions go extreme, get out the fishing rod(s), as if intending to kick-back and fish – wind should appear momentarily." Ahoooo! /S/ Murphy the Racing Beagle, the sailing spirit in us all.
